UJIJI, on Tanganika East Africa November 1871

James Gordon Bennett Jr, Esq

It is in general somewhat difficult to write to one never seen It seems much like addressing an abstract idea, but the presence of your representative Mr Stanley in this region takes away the strangeness I should otherwise have felt and in writing to thank you for your extreme kindness that prompted you to send him I feel quite at home If I explain the forlorn condition in which he found me you will easily perceive that I have a good reason to use a very strong expression of gratitude I came to Ujiji, a trip between four and five hundred miles beneath a blazing vertical sun having been baffled defeated and forced to return when almost in sight of the geographical part of my mission by a number of half caste Moslem slaves sent to me from Zanzibar instead of men My heart was made still sorer by the woful sights I had seen of man's inhumanity, which told on my bodily frame and depressed it beyond measure I thought I was dying on my feet It is not too much to say that I passed every step of my uneasy sultry way in pain, and I reached Ujiji a wreck of bones There I found some £500 worth of goods which I had ordered from Zanzibar had unaccountably been intrusted to a drunken man—half caste Moslem tailor—who after squandering them for sixteen months on the way to Ujiji finished up by selling off the remainder for slaves and ivory for himself He had divined the Koran and found I was dead, he had also written to the Governor of Unyanyembe that he had sent the slaves after me to Manyama who had returned and reported my decease and begged permission to sell off the few goods his drunken appetite had spared He however knew perfectly well from men who had seen me I was alive and waiting for goods and men but as for morality he is evidently an idiot and there being no law except that of the dagger or musket I had to sit down in great weariness destitute of everything save fine Corter clothes and beads, which I had taken the precaution to leave here in case of extremity The near prospect of begging among the Ujijians made me miserable I could not despair because I laughed so much at a friend, who on reaching the mouth of the Zambesie, said he was tempted to despair on breaking a photograph of his wife We could have no success after that Afterward Ida's despair had to me such a strong smack of ludicrousness that it was out of the question Well when I got to about the worst verge vague rumors of an English visitor reached me I thought of myself as a man who went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, but neither priest, Levite nor Samaritan could possibly pass my way Yet the good Samaritan was close at hand and one of my people rushed up at the top of his speed and in great excitement gasped out An Englishman is coming, I see him! and off he darted to meet him The American flag the first ever seen in these parts at the head of a caravan, told me the nationality of the stranger I was as cold and non demonstrative as we [illegible] are usually reported to be but your kindness made my frame thrill, it was indeed overwhelming, and I said in my soul Let the richest blessings descend from the [illegible] [illegible] The news Stanley had to tell me was thrilling, mighty political changes on the continent the success of the Atlantic cable, the election of Gen Grant and many other topics riveted my attention for days together, and had an immediate and beneficial effect on my health I had been without news from home for years, save what I could glean from a few Saturday Reviews and Punch of 1868, my appetite revived, and in a week I began to feel strong again Saturday brought a most kind and encouraging dispatch from Lord Clarendon, whose loss I sincerely deplore the first I have received from the Foreign Office since 1866, and [illegible] tion that the British Government had kindly sent a thousand pounds [illegible] to my aid Up to his arrival I was not [illegible] of any pecuniary aid, and I came [illegible] and this want is now happily required. and I am anxious that you and all my friends [illegible] know that, unchilled by [illegible], I [illegible] to the task which my friend, Sir Roderick Murchison set me, with [illegible] that all the world will come right at last. The [illegible] shed of south central Africa is over [illegible] hundred miles in length The fountains therein are almost innumerable That is, it would take a man's lifetime to count [illegible] From the water-shed they converge into four large rivers, and these again into two [illegible] streams in the great Nile valley, which [illegible] in ten degrees to twelve degrees south latitude It was long ere the [illegible] the ancient problem, and gave me a [illegible] idea of drainage I had to feel my way and every step of the way, and was [illegible] in the dark, for who cared—where rivers ran we drank our fill and let the rest run by. Portuguese who visited Cazembe [illegible] for slaves and I heard nothing else. I [illegible] about matters, questioned and [illegible] tioned until I was almost afraid of [illegible] set down as afflicted with hydrocephalus [illegible] my last work, in which I have [illegible] hindered from want of [illegible] ants, and was following the [illegible] line of drainage down the rough [illegible] of cannibals called Manyuema or shortly [illegible] ema This line of drainage has four [illegible] in it The fourth I was near when [illegible] to turn back It is from one to three [illegible] in width and never can be [illegible] at any [illegible] or at any time of the year. The two [illegible] drains, Lupria or Bartlefrax river [illegible] into it at Lake Kamalondo, then the [illegible] Comain flows through Lake [illegible] and seems to form the western arm of the [illegible] on which Petherick traded Now I [illegible] of about six hundred miles of [illegible] and unfortunately the [illegible] hundred [illegible] most interesting of the whole, for in it, if I am not mistaken, four fountains [illegible] an earthen mound, and the four [illegible] great distance off, a large river. Two of [illegible] run north to Egypt, Lupria and [illegible] and two run south into [illegible] or Upper Zambesi [illegible] are not the source of the Nile, as [illegible] by the [illegible] of [illegible] in the city of Sais, to Herodotus I [illegible] them so off [illegible], and at [illegible] off, that I cannot doubt [illegible] and in spite of some [illegible] for that seizes me every time I think of my family, I wish to finish up [illegible]. Five hundred pounds sterling worth of [illegible] have again unaccountably been [illegible] to slaves, and have been over a year on the way [illegible] of four months I [illegible] they lie at your expense, ere I can put the natural completion to my work, and if my disclosures regarding the [illegible] Ujiji slavery should lead to the suppression of the eastward slave trade, I shall regard that as a greater matter by far than the discovery of all Nile sources [illegible] Now that you have done with domestic slavery forever, lend us your powerful aid towards this great object. This fine country is blighted as with a curse from above in order that the slavery privileges of a petty Sultan of Zanzibar may not be infringed, and the rights of the crown of Portugal which are mythical, should be kept in abeyance till some future time when Africa will become another India to Portuguese slave traders I conclude by again thanking you most cordially for your great [illegible], and am gratefully yours,

DAVID LIVINGSTONE.

SATURDAY MORNING AUGUST 10 1872

West Virginia

A singular political contest is now in progress in West Virginia It will terminate in the election which will take place on the 22d of August The main question is on the adoption or rejection of a new Constitution for the State though State officers including Governor and members of Legislature are to be chosen together with three Congressmen The present Governor of the State Jacob, a Democrat is an opponent of Greeley and an independent candidate for re election He has the support of Republicans and a considerable following of Democrats The name of the regular Democratic candidate for Governor is Camden who obtained the nomination, as Gov Jacob s friends assert by corruption and fraud He is a supporter of the new Constitution which is so framed as to impose grievous disabilities on the colored people of the State For this reason the instrument is bitterly opposed by the Republicans and by the liberal Democratic element led by Gov Jacob The proscriptive clauses of the new Constitution were inserted at the demand of the old rebel element which now supports Greeley talks peace and good will, and tries at the same time to oppress the colored population of the State Altogether the fight is one that presents the most singular phases of any that has recently taken place The Republicans and anti Greeley Democrats believe they can defeat the new Constitution and elect their State ticket, and their claim does not seem unreasonable The State went Democratic in 1870 and again in 1871, by nearly three thousand majority In case the new Constitution is rejected and the Greeley Democracy beaten, it is deemed certain that the State will go for Grant and Wilson in November

Phases of the North Carolina Election

The New York Herald's correspondent writing from North Carolina five days before the election, asserted that the Democratic meetings were very large and the Republican ones slim, that a largely increased vote was registered, which was claimed as Democratic, and that if one were to form an opinion as to the result from the attendance at the meetings and the enthusiasm of the respective parties, he would say that State was certainly Democratic by an [illegible] majority. According to the Herald's account, the leaders of that party were perfectly confident of success. Vance claimed 6,000 majority as the lowest estimate. Yet, as the result shows, all these appearances and vaticinations were at fault The Republicans did not make a noisy campaign, but an effective one When the returns from the eastern counties came in, the Democrats thought the State was theirs This hope was dispelled by the unexpected increase of the Republican vote in the western counties, where there are very few colored people. The whites in that section had been counted as solid for the Democratic party. But they must have voted in large numbers the other way It was admitted by the Herald's correspondent that the colored vote in all parts of the State was immovably Republican.

Not a Credible Witness

The Herald is still harping on Pleasanton s offer of patronage to Schurz, and declaring that it [illegible] the honor of the President Pleasanton says the President authorized him to go to Schurz with this offer, and to press its acceptance on condition that he (Schurz) would support the San Domingo treaty Grant says that Pleasanton's offer was entirely unauthorized. Now let us see whose honor is in jeopardy. Here is Pleasanton impudently confessing that he was the bearer of a bribe to Schurz, and claiming that his word is better than Grant's. Is the man who owns that he was the willing instrument in dirty and dishonorable business like this, the man whose veracity is to be relied on? The [illegible] is that the man who would carry the offer of a bribe will tell lies just when it suits him, and that is the unenviable position in which Pleasanton has placed himself before the public He does n't seem to see that even if his story were true, the bribe-bearer is just as infamous a person as the bribe-giver or the bribe-taker The Oregon Herald was also oblivious of this fact, and talks of Pleasanton, who has impeached himself, as if he were a man of unimpeachable honor! The fact is, honorable men nowhere would believe a man who would confess to his own dishonor as impudently as Pleasanton [illegible]

It will be remembered that about a year ago Pleasanton was dismissed from the office of Internal Revenue, because with his usual self-importance he had assumed to be higher in authority than his lawful superior, the Secretary of the Treasury. He represented to everybody that the President was standing by him in his insubordination to the Secretary, though the fact from first to last was otherwise, and when it was found that he would not [illegible], the President sent him a written request to resign. Pleasanton s character is sufficiently known to the country It is regarded by men of all parties as contemptible His admission that he was a bearer of bribes will not increase anybody s respect for him for a man who will thus be the herald of his own dishonor will also be set down as a falsifier in any case where interest or resentment prompts him to action His offer of patronage to Schurz took place at the time when the quarrel with the Secretary of the Treasury was in progress, and no doubt Pleasanton hoped to bribe Schurz secure his support for the Administration, and thus ingratiate himself with the President, with whom he was fast losing ground

The Straight-Out Democracy

No doubt those who have been watching the progress of political events have observed the preparations making for the Convention of the straight out Democracy at Louisville on the 3d September From time to time the telegraph has reported the progress of this movement at the East, and a day or two since it gave in detail the plan adopted for action Evidently the movement means business The Committee say that the responses they have received are highly encouraging They go in for maintaining the Democratic organization, and for taking such a course as will enable the party to find a rallying point after Greeley's defeat, which they regard as inevitable They say they are already assured of a large attendance at Louisville, and are satisfied that more than half a million Democrats throughout the United States are with them, and utterly opposed to the Greeley "sell" In Eastern journals now arriving by mail we find meetings reported which Democrats have called to take action with reference to the Louisville Convention Probably no great movement in sympathy with this Convention will be witnessed in any one locality but the Convention nevertheless will represent a vast multitude of dissatisfied Democrats distributed throughout the whole country who will never vote for Greeley

State Teachers Association

On Tuesday next the State Teachers Association of Oregon will assemble at Eugene City Many of our best known educators have signified their intention to be present Topics of importance connected with the cause and promotion of education will be discussed and various plans and recommendations for a new school law will be considered

In the matter of a new school law a correspondent of the OREGONIAN recently suggested the true method He showed that the best way was not to attempt any radical change or to try to transplant from another State to this an entirely new school system but to make such changes in our existing system as experience has shown are required

But it is not wholly in this direction that the State Teachers Association can be useful The truth is there is springing up on all sides a desire for higher education It is seen in a more thorough development of the educational spirit What would suffice ten years ago will not suffice now The horizon widens Our education must extend beyond provincial bounds and become more general in its scope and character Education can no longer be considered the acquisition of isolated facts We must have these facts in [illegible] with other things The study of Grammar, for example does not consist in the recitation of a few rules—from the horn book It consists in the acquisition of that deeper interior knowledge which comes from a critical study of the structure of language of comparative philology and of the intellectual development of a people So of the Natural Sciences they are not detached and isolated facts but are parts of a beautiful and complete whole every part of which throws light on every other

Thus we are gradually getting out of the erroneous idea that education is a thing of shreds and patches, like some of the poems which Horace satirized in his times To inculcate this idea of a broader education is the duty the teachers of our schools, and to such an end the labors of the Association will, we trust, be wisely directed

Highly Interesting Revelations.

Among the documents recently purchased by our Government, and which reveal the secrets of the late Southern Confederacy, is a long letter by J P Holcombe, a rebel agent in 1864, to J P Benjamin, Secretary of State at Richmond This document the National Republican Committee are now printing for circulation It details Holcombe s connection with the Peace Convention at Niagara in which Greeley participated Holcombe says that he was so situated in Canada that he had opportunities of extensive intercourse with friends from the United States He was called in repeatedly by Buckalew and Judge Black, of Pennsylvania, Ben Wood, of New York, McLean, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, Weller, of California, and many other leading Democrats, and received messages from many more, such as Pendleton, Voorhees and Vallandigham, He says that the "impression made upon his mind by what he learned from these men, including interviews with leading members of the Sons of Liberty, as to the temper of the Democratic party and especially of the people of the Northwest, was favorable to the Confederate cause" He was convinced by these men that a majority of the people were hostile to Lincoln's Administration and opposed to further continuance of the war for the preservation of the Union "The bitterness" he says, "between the hostile factions is intense Our sanguine friends had fixed upon various periods for revolutionary outbreak, but they were deferred, at their own instance, from time to time"

At this time Greeley was opposing Lincoln in the New York Tribune He was engaged in an intrigue for the removal of Lincoln from the field as a candidate for re-election, and the Tribune was yielding a very cold support to the measures of the war Holcombe in his report says that the course of the Tribune at this time attracted the attention of himself and associates, and induced the hope that Greeley "entertained opinions on the subject of peace much more reasonable and moderate than those of the Republican party in general" For this reason they invited Greeley to Niagara to visit them The latter received President Lincoln's consent to go, but was charged to receive no proposition which did not guarantee the submission of the rebels and the integrity of the Union As President Lincoln had foreseen the negotiation came to nothing The object of the rebel agents was simply to obtain a diplomatic advantage As Holcombe says, they wanted "to compel such new developments from Lincoln as would disclose the true policy of his administration" in other words, they wanted to throw on the administration the odium of rejecting negotiations for peace, and thus help the peace party of the North, which was already very strong and fully prepared for "revolutionary outbreak" The Tribune was opposing Lincoln, and hence they had sought this negotiation through Greeley But Lincoln was wiser than all of them and avoided the snare

The rebel agents considered it a matter of the first importance to prevent Lincoln's re election, and on this point Greeley was steadily playing into their hands, not indeed out of motives of disloyalty to the country but for petty reasons such as have now induced him to break with the Republican party and attempt to defeat Grant

In closing his report Holcombe urged the continuance of efforts to create anarchy at the North We ask attention to this passage

> To keep alive such a degree of apprehension as will lead to the concentration of large bodies of troops to repress insurrection within their own limits will of itself be an important diversion in our favor We should employ money and talent without stint to give this brooding resentment the proportions of anarchy and civil strife let us preserve our communication with our friends in the North Warned by our past experience let us introduce arms more gradually and cautiously, and as far as practicable subsidize the leading presses, and through the ordinary channels of newspapers as well as of campaign documents, enlighten and influence the public mind, enlist public men of character and influence, whose principles and sympathies are with us, by indemnifying them against the hazards to which bold and decisive action may expose them With arms, leaders and an opportunity we would strike a deadly blow

These were the men with whom Greeley was brought into intercourse by his opposition to Lincoln As already shown, they were in communication with Buckalew Vallandigham and other leading Democrats who sympathized with their objects and assisted in creating a sensation at the North in favor of the rebel cause These revelations positively identify the Democratic party of the Northern States with the schemes of the rebel emissaries. They furnish the first conclusive and direct evidence of the complicity of Democratic leaders with the rebel schemes of insurrection and show that they were supplied with large sums of money to perfect plans of violent resistance and revolutionary outbreak The record is complete and unimpeachable It lets a flood of light in upon some hitherto dark places in history and more than confirms all that was said about the disloyalty of Democratic leaders during the war Greeley s connection with these intrigues though not criminal like that of the Democratic leaders is extremely reprehensible The rebel agents sought a conference for the purpose of undermining Lincoln and dividing the sentiment of the North in regard to the war Greeley responded It does not now make matters look any better to find him entertaining Saunders one of these conspirators, at his home and bestowing all possible attentions on him

Last Saturday—only a week ago—the Herald was more joyous than it will be this morning On that occasion it was bubbling over with exultation North Carolina was the cause A bantam surmounting one of those "specials" made to order and claiming twenty thousand majority crowed lustily and a double leaded editorial a column long filled with all sorts of extravagant boastings followed hard after Exclaimed our jubilant neighbor — It is but the beginning of the end! Mark it Greeley and Reform will sweep the country as they have now swept North Carolina! Exactly that is just the way they will do it Our neighbor now shudders at the omen

Greeley Trumbull and Schurz raise the hue and cry of "nepotism" against Grant But just look at this record Greeley secured the appointment of his own brother in law John F Cleveland to the position of Internal Revenue Assessor in the Sixth District of New York one of the most lucrative places in the service Trumbull had his brother in law Dr Jayne, appointed first as Governor of Dakota and afterwards as Pension Agent for Illinois Subsequently Trumbull tried to get his own son appointed to a lucrative position Schurz had his brother in law, Jussen, appointed Collector of Internal Revenue at Chicago and raged highly when Grant removed him for incapacity

It is getting to be the impression that Grant makes a confoundedly bad President —Herald

Villainy is doing its work at Salem without let or hindrance Burglaries are of daily occurrence The residence of John Reynolds was entered on Wednesday and robbed of a gold watch and a pair of pantaloons

The deaf mute school will reopen in Salem on September 1st, under the superintendence of Prof Smith The Professor has been very successful thus far in his tedious work, but he is determined to do everything within his power for his unfortunate fellow beings At least 25 pupils are expected.

From the Albany Democrat Last Sunday a couple of black bears were brought to this city to be shipped to East Portland for the purpose of putting them in the park They were captured in the mountains west of Corvallis, and are fair specimens of that species, one weighing 275 and the other 300 pounds.

A young man named Pierce, eighteen years of age, who was hauling hay with his father, twelve miles southeast of Salem, while climbing upon the load, fell down between the horses The animals began kicking and started to run The wagon passed over young Pierce, causing injuries of which he died in two hours The accident took place on Wednesday

An act of Congress provides that Colleges which have capacity to educate 150 students may have a Department of military science under charge of an officer of the Army President Gatch, of Wallamet University will ask that Lieut Fred Schwatka, now of the 5th Cavalry, stationed on the North Platte, may be detailed to act as such Professor of Military Science at that place The number of institutions so favored is limited to twenty

THE TERRITORIES

A washing machine factory has been started at Olympia

The Territorial University at Seattle will open on the first Monday in September next, in charge of Prof E K Hill, brother of Capt Geo D Hill He will be assisted by his wife.

A sale of Washington Territory University lands was advertised to come off last week at Seattle There were no bidders, and the lands will not be sold till somebody wants them

It is expected that preliminary surveys to the 49th parallel down the Sound will be completed this year, but it is not probable that a locating line will be ordered till exhaustive reconnoissances determine the best line of route

An Olympia paper says If any doubting Thomas is of the opinion that Olympia is not progressing on its own account without regard to railroad inactivity, let him take a walk some fine morning and note the number of new buildings that are being erected for business purposes and dwellings

The Olympia Tribune has a story that a conference was held at Olympia a few days ago at which leading Republicans were present and it was decided that Garfield must be withdrawn The talk is that Chief Justice Jacobs is to be set up as the candidate All of which is extremely improbable

The Seattle Dispatch thus advises the Olympians There are cheering signs that the Olympia people have at least decided to help themselves—ignus fatuus of the terminus has been dissipated True the policy is to build up the present town by improving the valuable water power of the Des Chutes, and pay no attention to the railroad schemes

The Philadelphia Enquirer notes a shipment of $2,000 000 of abraded coin from the Sub Treasury of New York to the mint at Philadelphia for re coinage In this country the Government stands the loss of worn coin In England this falls on the parties who pay it out Coin at the Bank of England is always weighed and the deficiency deducted from the nominal value

CITY.

THE H[illegible] —Any one who may not have had occasion lately to visit that portion of our city which lies north and west of the North School house can have [illegible] idea of the improvements [illegible] progress in the way of new streets and houses [illegible] one of the most promising parts of Portland is receiving rapid developments at the hand of the army of graders and thousands of yards of earth are changing place with a result [illegible] beneficial to the appearance of the streets and blocks which must be gratifying to those who have the interest of this part of town in view. Conspicuous among the new buildings which are rising on every side we have noticed one situated on the corner of F and Fourteenth streets, nearly opposite Plymouth church, at a point central to every part of the city entirely overlooking the whole surrounding landscape, and have learned that this edifice is not a private building but is designed as a public charitable institution. So unostentatious have been the plans and methods employed in erecting "The Home" (for so this building is to be called) that only a few people know to this day of its existence or are aware that so beneficent a charity as this promises to be is fairly launched and almost ready for use in its labor of love and benefaction to the community. It will interest our readers to learn something of the history of "The Home," its appearance and objects. About Christmas time an appeal was issued by the Ladies' Relief Society, setting forth the great need of a home for friendless women and children and destitute families or emigrants. There was but one publication of this appeal in each of the city papers. We hear that a copy of it was afterwards enclosed together with a circular to many of our leading citizens. The result was that the sum needed was subscribed (within $50 which was made up in small sums) by twenty one individuals. On the first of May last the contract was let and the building to day is completed, and ready as a home for occupation and use. Its appearance is that of a commodious dwelling house in size 35 by 43 feet with two stories 12 and 11 feet high. An ample hall occupies the whole center with rooms, dormitories, etc, opening to each side. The first floor has a well appointed kitchen, dining room, matron's room, and a large bath room with two rooms to be occupied by any inmates. The second story has four rooms of the usual size (10x14) and one large dormitory or school room. From all the windows there is a delightful view. Each room is furnished with transoms, and the whole house is hard finished and painted in the best manner. An ample space in the large roof is capable of being turned into rooms with dormer windows, if the future needs of the Home justify. By means of a force pump and tank an ample supply of the best spring water is distributed throughout the building. The whole cost is $3,300 and no debt has been incurred. It is the purpose of the ladies who have in charge this most praiseworthy enterprise to place it in working condition at the earliest day. We understand that steps are already taken by which our citizens who may so desire will have the privilege of assisting in the important matter of furnishing the house with needed stores, beds, furniture, crockery, etc, and that an appeal will be made by the committee appointed for this purpose to be presented to the public. We hear already of a munificent gift of two or three hundred dollars worth of serviceable carpets, and doubt not that all other needed articles will come in to superfluity as soon as the opportunity is given. When so much has been done, so quickly and efficiently, it will be esteemed a privilege by any one to supplement the larger work with the gift of articles for house keeping, and thus be represented in a substantial manner in the life of "The Home."

BOAT RACE.—A very spirited and exciting race took place on Thursday evening between the O S N Co's steamers Dixie Thompson (formerly Cascades) and the Oneonta. The matter of the respective speed of these two splendid boats has long been a subject of conjecture, and as there never had been any fair and impartial test of the steamers, it remained unsettled which of the two could boast of the best time. It seems at length that the question as to the fastest craft has been settled, for a time at least. On Thursday evening, as the Dixie Thompson was on her way from Astoria to this city, and about half a mile below the mouth of the Wallamet, she espied the Oneonta just rounding the point where the waters of the two rivers mingle, on her way from the Cascades and bound for Portland. The Dixie Thompson gave chase immediately. Both steamers were put to the extent of their traveling powers. For a long time neither seemed to gain nor lose, but at length the Dixie commenced to "crawl" away on her rival. This she continued to do until the Oneonta was passed above Swan Island. Notwithstanding the Oneonta used all the steam she could with positive safety, her more rapid [illegible] increased the distance between them until the two boats were separated by about one fourth of a mile, when the Dixie touched her wharf. As the other boat had a long start, it is claimed that the Dixie won by about three quarters of a mile. The distance from the commencement of the race to the wharf was made by the latter steamer in 48 minutes. It was a very lively race, and considerable enthusiasm was felt and manifested by the passengers on the rival boats. It is needless to add that the result of the race produced very opposite effects on the spirits of the passengers.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.—A most destructive fire visited Springville on Thursday night, which destroyed a large amount of property at that place. The fire was first discovered about 11 o'clock by some men who were on a scow moored at the lower wharf. A gleam of light was first seen through one of the windows, and almost the next instant flames burst out almost simultaneously at several places. Within five minutes from the time the fire was first discovered three large, commodious warehouses, a store and two wharves—a lower and upper—were all enveloped in flames. The alarm was given and vigorous efforts were made to save all the wheat possible stored in the warehouses. About $800 worth was removed to a place of safety, but everything else—both the buildings and their contents—were entirely consumed. All the property destroyed belonged to Messrs Comstock & Co. Everything was burned down to the water's edge. A quantity of wood lying on the lower wharf was consumed, but the scow which was moored alongside and loaded with wood, was swung out in the stream and saved. The dwelling house of Mr Comstock, standing a short distance from the river, narrowly escaped the general destruction. By means of wet blankets the building was saved. The total loss is estimated at or near $16,000, and the insurance we learn, is $19,000, in the Imperial and another company. This will fully cover all the loss. But little grain was in the warehouses at the time of the fire. A month hence and there would have in all probability been but little short of 60 000 bushels stored away. From the manner in which the fire seemed to originate, it is a generally received impression that the fire was the work of an [illegible].

SPIRE RAISED.—The spire of the new Trinity Church at the corner of Oak and Sixth streets was raised to its proper altitude at an early hour yesterday morning. Mr Therkelsen the contractor, wisely arranged with Capt Thomas Mountain, to raise the huge structure. On Wednesday morning of this week, he commenced his preparations for accomplishing the work and on Thursday evening everything was in readiness. The spire was raised from its seat in the tower about two feet, and allowed to hang in that position all night so that all things might find their true strain and be in perfect condition for raising the heavy mass on the following morning. At 4 o'clock this morning the spire was lowered again to its seat from which it was raised, all the tackle and appliances carefully examined again, and at 4 40 the word was passed to start the capstan and at 6 15 it was passed again to stop heaving as it had reached its elevation, thus occupying but one hour and thirty five minutes in its upward passage. So perfect had Capt Mountain's arrangements been made that it moved steadily and evenly in its upward course the apex not veering to one side or the other, in any appreciable degree, to those who so carefully watched its progress. By eight o'clock the spire was permanently seated in place bolted and secured firmly to the Church tower. In a few weeks the whole structure will be finished, and its beautiful proportions will be acknowledged by all who see it. It will be a great ornament to our city.

TAURUS IN TROUBLE.—Readers have doubtless heard of, or seen the farce entitled "Bull in a China Shop." We have just learned of a circumstance in which a bull came near getting into a furnace, "red hot" at that. The results attending this feat of Taurus, were very different from what took place in the China shop, for instead of making a general smash of crockery, his bullship got the worst of the bargain. The other day as the steamer Mary Bell was on her way to this city, a large black bull which was on board became very contrary and restive and on getting a sound thrashing for his stubbornness he concluded to go down to assist the fireman at work. He lumbered down into the hole and the fellow below thinking the place too small for a scared fireman and a mad bull scrambled out as fast as the bull came in. Now the furnace was not heated seven times hotter than it was wont but still it was a little too warm for Taurus and he was as glad to get out as he was to get in. It was no easy task to draw out a th[illegible] pounds in the form of an infuriated bull. The prospects were brilliant for a few minutes to have roast bull meat but genius triumphed and the animal was at last "blocked up" like a locomotive and extricated from a position too warm for him to hold. The animal when raised to the deck was found to be badly singed, and effectually subdued. The circumstance caused much excitement and not a little sport among the passengers.

NARROW ESCAPE.—During the fire which occurred at Springfield on Thursday night a young man named Wilcox very narrowly escaped death by burning. Wilcox was the book keeper in the store and occupied a room in the second story. At the time of the fire he was in bed and sound asleep. The roaring of the flames and the shouts of the men failed to arouse him from his slumbers. The fire at length reached the store and soon it was enveloped in flames. Still young Wilcox remained unconscious of the dreadful death so near at hand. In the excitement and confusion attending the scene no one thought of Wilcox. Suddenly the fearful condition of the young man flashed on the mind of one of the men. He dashed into the flames, up the stair way and into the room occupied by the sleeper. He took Wilcox in his arms and carried him bodily out of the burning building, almost before he was aware of the existence or extent of the peril to which he was exposed. One minute more and no human aid could have reached him.

DURING THE FAIR.—We have been shown a letter written by John Wilson the circus man to his agent, Mr J E Gorham, who left last evening on the steamer. The letter was written from Salt Lake and bore date of July 20th. From it we learn that Mr Wilson has concluded to visit this State the coming fall—arriving here about the first of next month. From Salt Lake the company will proceed to Marysville, thence to San Francisco, and from that place to this city by steamer in time to exhibit during the State Fair. After that the company will perform here, proceed to Victoria, and from thence return to California.

SAILED.—The steamer Ajax sailed last evening for San Francisco, carrying away the following passengers: Mrs Leon Vial, Miss Dodge, Miss Haring, William Week, William Meek, Mrs Dodge, S W Raveley, A Schiessel, F M Bacon and wife, Mr Wheeler, F G Schwabacher and wife, Miss Lillie White, O Bonnis, T Savage, S C Hunt, Lee Sun, C W Haring, Bliss Sullivan, Captain Nason, Mrs A L Hapgood, B L Morris, D C Tratt, Mr Dodge and brother, Mr Campbell, E W Griggs, N H Hill, Mrs E A Greenon and niece, Mrs Van Duzen, Lee Dun, G W Curlee, W F & Co's messenger, and 25 in the steerage.

COUNTY LODGE.—The regular quarterly meeting of Multnomah County Lodge No 3 I O G T, was held in the hall of Brooklyn Lodge, near Lee's Chapel, August 9th. The following are the officers elected and installed by District Deputy G W C T, E W Ryan: J B Garrison, W C T; Mrs A C Lowe, W V T; E W Ryan, Secretary; W A Webber, F S; Jacob Ownsby, Treasurer; B A Cathy, Marshal; Jas Hughes, Guard; A Cornutt, Sentinel; Rev J S McCain, Chaplain. The next meeting of the Lodge will held in the city of Portland on the second Thursday in November.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB.—An adjourned meeting of the above named club will be held this evening at the Police Court at 8 o'clock. A permanent organization having been effected, the object of the meeting is to elect permanent officers. For this reason, a large attendance is desirable. All who desire to join the club can become members to night without any charge. After this meeting a regular initiation fee will be charged, and persons cannot join until the usual application is made and the Club votes upon it.

NIMRODS.—Four days ago a party of three hunters left East Portland for a general hunt. The party consisted of Professor T H Parrott, Mr H W. Prettyman and Dr Sanford. The Nimrods had a fine time, and committed sad havoc among the feathered denizens of "ye land of Webfoot." The success attending the expedition can be judged from the results of the hunt—150 grouse and 74 quail being the fruits of the chase. This is an average of 56 birds for each day the party was out.

WHAT IT DID.—The precise nature of the amendment made to the bridge ordinance at the last meeting of the Council does not seem to be understood. Having been asked about it very often we here state that said amendment makes Pine street the northern limit within which the bridge can be built instead of Salmon street, as per the original ordinance. The time for designating the precise location was also extended until the 28th of August.

STEAMERS.—The Rescue is undergoing repairs and being repainted. She will resume the line in a few days.

The Jane McNear is now in excellent running condition and ready for business.

The Okanagon goes, we learn, through to Astoria this morning.

The Emma Hayward is now at the bone yard awaiting orders.

ROLL CASE.—Protection Engine Company No 4 are having made for the use of that company a roll case, in which is to be placed a list of exempt firemen from No. 4 since its organization. The roll case is to be manufactured out of the finest quality of wood, and will be of the most elegant and costly workmanship. Mr A P Dolan is now engaged in making it. The cost of the case when finished will be $130.

TELEGRAPHED FOR.—Mr. Jos Reily, Constable for North Portland precinct, received a telegram yesterday from San Francisco, stating that his wife was lying at that place very low, and not expected to live. He took the steamer for that place at once. During his absence a Mr Sypher will act as special constable.

RESIGNED—APPOINTED.—The resignation of W J Tennant as Constable of Morrison Precinct was accepted yesterday by the County Court, and S A Dray appointed in his place by the Court.

INDISPOSITION.—We regret to announce that Judge Denny, owing to an attack of bilious fever, has been unable to hold court for the last two days.

PICNIC.—A number of young ladies and gentlemen of Vancouver gave a picnic near that place yesterday. A very pleasant time was experienced.

If W G Gilbert will leave his address at this office he may hear of something to interest him.

A CARD

By request we publish the following card from the L R Society.

PORTLAND Aug 8th

It gives the ladies of the Relief Society great pleasure to be able to report that "The Home" for the relief of the poor, for which the public has so generously contributed, is entirely completed and in readiness for the furniture which is necessary to put it in working order. Trusting that the community is not yet weary in well doing, we are encouraged to appeal once more for help in this quarter.

Will the merchants who are willing to furnish something in their line, carpets, dry goods, bedding etc, make it known to any member of the society or to the furnishing committee (Mrs Burrage, Mrs General Babbitt and Mrs Wadhams) who will most gratefully receive any contributions. The ladies are greatly indebted to Mr E M Burton, who generously gave his services as architect for "The Home" free of charge and they would here publicly express to him their thanks.

HOLLY WATER WORKS.

PORTLAND Aug 9 1872

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Three days ago a Herald writer made a statement to the effect that the loss by fire for one whole year in Portland was $1[illegible]. From that asserted fact we inferred that our fire system was better than the Holly system, because in Fall [illegible] where there were Holly works, the loss by fire the same year was greater. To day the Herald contains a statement that the loss by fire for one short day of this year, in Portland, was $8[illegible]2. Hence to be consistent with his previous deduction, the writer who again figures in to day's Herald, must deduce the fact that the system of fire protection of last year in Portland was very much better than the system of fire protection of yesterday in Portland. Cannot the writer himself now see the utter absurdity of his deduction when viewed by the glare of yesterday's fire. The writer in the Herald facetiously attempts to evade the fact asserted by me that the fir timber of Oregon, when on fire, is the most easily controlled by water, of any building timber in the world, but the fact still remains all the same. He very sillily asks then if my statement is true "what necessity of any system of fire protection for Portland?" If I had stated that our building timber would not burn at all, his question would have been pertinent, but under my statement it is too contemptible for notice. But I do not write this article in reply to the Herald writer's last attempt, as it is indeed too trivial for the notice already paid to it, but simply for the purpose of calling your attention to one or two facts in regard to this water question. The first fact is in regard to the total charge of the Herald on the water question in one short year. One year ago it was outspoken as to the exorbitant charges of the Water Co, and as to the duty of the City Council to give relief. Now it has not one word to say against these exorbitant charges, but appears to be laboring to reconcile the people to the yoke they wear. The other fact is that a "ring" is being formed to gobble up the $100 000 which the city is authorized to expend for water and gas. If a majority of the present Council can not be brought into the "ring" the attempt will be made to stave off this water question until more pliable timber can be secured. The citizens of Portland ask of this present Council that they should attend to this important water question at once.

BUSINESS NOTICES

HOME SHUTTLE.—We refer our readers to the testimonial of the Home Shuttle Sewing Machine, which appears in our special column this morning. Mr Traver says he expects six dozen more of these favorite machines to arrive on the next steamer.

Messrs Corbitt & Macleay have in store direct from Yokohama, one of the largest lots of choice teas ever imported to this city, besides large quantities of sugars, salt, syrups and general groceries, as will be observed by reference to advertisement elsewhere. Our city and country friends are invited to call and examine the grand array of goods offered by this firm.

What We Need when Debilitated

Appetite and digestion languish at this season. At this time when the body most needs renovation and support [illegible] The stomach [illegible] department is apt to prove delinquent. Under such circumstances the necessity for a wholesome stimulant tonic and corrective is self evident and consequently the demand for that peerless combination of the three required elements Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is never more urgent than at mid summer.

It is true that a few medical bigots—fossils left over from the dark ages—recommend violent purgation and water gruel as a cure for indigestion and its accompanying ills but they make a few proselytes. The majority of the community are sane and all sane people are aware that a pure and powerful vegetable tonic with alterative properties like Hostetter's Bitters is the only cure for dyspepsia, biliousness constipation nervousness and the consequential damages they inflict.

The human intellect unless hopelessly diseased or egregiously humbugged declines to establish the weak and human stomach with fierce cathartics that, rushing like an avalanche through the intestines threaten to take the inner membrane with them. To use a significant [illegible] phrase the knock-down and drag out methods of treatment are "played out".

It is clearly understood that [illegible] [illegible] with prostrating preparations. This is an era of common sense and [illegible] approve of Hostetter's Bitters as the best article extant for invigorating regulating and purifying the system and defending it against poison in the air we breathe or the water we drink.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.--1860--X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates tropical temperate or frigid it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Her Sphere.

No outward sign her angelhood revealed,
Save that her eyes were wondrous mild and fair,—
The aureole round her forehead was concealed
By the pale glory of her shining hair.

She bore the yoke and wore the name of wife
To one who made her tenderness and grace
[A] mere convenience of his narrow life,
And put a seraph in a servant's place.

She cheered his meager hearth,—she blessed and warmed
His poverty, and met his harsh demands
With meek, unvarying patience, and performed
Its menial tasks with stained and battered hands.

She nursed his children through their helpless years,—
Gave them her strength, her youth, her beauty's prime,—
Bore for them sore privation, toil and tears,
Which made her old and tired before her time.

And when fierce fever smote him with its blight,
Her calm, consoling presence charmed his pain,
Through long and thankless watches, day and night,
Her fluttering fingers cooled his face like rain.

With soft, magnetic touch, and murmurs sweet,
She brought him sleep, and stilled his fretful moan,
And taught his flying pulses to repeat
The mild and moderate measure of her own.

She had an artist's quick, perceptive eyes
For all the beautiful; a poet's heart
For every changing phase of earth and skies,
And all things fair in nature and in art.

She looked with all a woman's keen delight
On jewels rich and dainty drapery,
Rare fabrics and soft hues,—the happy right
Of those more favored but less fair than she.

On pallid pearls, which glimmer cool and white,
Dimming proud foreheads with their purity;
On silks which gleam and ripple in the light,
And shift and shimmer like the summer sea;

On gems like drops by sudden sunlight kissed,
When fall the last large brilliants of the rain;
On laces delicate as frozen mist
Embroidering a winter window-pane;—

Yet, near the throng of worldly butterflies,
She dwelt, a chrysalis, in homely brown;
With costliest splendors flaunting in her eyes,
She went her dull way in her gingham gown.

Hedged in by alien hearts, unloved, alone,
With slender shoulders bowed beneath their load,
She trod the path that fate had made her own,
Nor met one kindred spirit on the road.

Slowly the years rolled onward; and at last,
When the bruised reed was broken, and her soul
Knew its sad term of earthly bondage past,
And felt its nearness to the heavenly goal,

Then a strange gladness filled the tender eyes,
Which gazed afar beyond all grief and sin,
And [illegible] to see the gates of paradise
Unclosing for her feet to enter in.

Vainly the master she had served so long
Chafed her worn hands, and, with remorseful tears,
Cried: "Stay, oh, stay! Forgive my bitter wrong;
Let me atone for all these dreary years!"

Alas for heedless hearts and blinded sense!
With what faint welcome and what meager fare,
What mean subjections and small recompense,
We entertain our angels unaware!

RAISING THE DEVIL.

AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF PETER CARTWRIGHT.

It was a dark and tempestuous night, a night to fill the soul with fright; the lightning flashed, the wild beasts squealed, when a poor preacher of the gospel wended his way through the dismal intracies of a western forest, many years ago.

The poor man felt anything but comfortable; for he was wet through to the skin, and almost tired to death. He had been tramping about since morning, besides he had lost his way, so the reader can imagine what state of mind he was in, and also appreciate the sudden transition from despair to hope which he experienced on seeing the glimmer of a light ahead. He quickened his flagging feet and soon came up to the light which issued from the only window of a solitary log cabin in the forest.

Remembering the scriptural injunction, "Knock, and it shall be open unto you," he did so, but without any response. He rapped again louder than before, and this time a rough female voice asked:

"Who's there?"

"It is I," was the indefinite reply of the rain soaked parson.

"Well, who are you and what do you want?" asked the voice gruffer than before.

"A poor benighted preacher of the Gospel who has lost his way, and who wishes to stay here all night," answered the preacher in a dolorous voice.

"Well, stay there—I don't see what's to hinder you."

"But I am almost starved, and I will pay you liberally for some supper," he responded, his teeth chattering with cold, not at all appreciating the joke.

The words "liberally pay" acted like a charm, and after a few moments of delay, followed by the unfastening of the door, it was opened and our pastor entered.

He found himself in a rough apartment with a large fireplace at one end, on which a great log was blazing; a rough deal table and [illegible] besides a box filled with dry flax, [illegible] the furniture.

But all minor deficiencies seemed to be made up by the landlady of the house, for she was full six feet in height, and weighed nigh on to three hundred pounds.

After having place some food on the table, she [illegible] to the parson, who stood shivering before the fire, making futile attempts to dry himself, alternately turning one side and then the other to the fire:

"Now, I want you to eat this grub as quick as you know how, and then tramp, as it is utterly impossible for me to keep you here over night."

"But, my good woman," said the parson anxiously, "I shall perish in this inclement weather. I have been wondering in this fearful storm since morning, and if you have any compassion or pity at all you will try and give me some place where I can be sheltered from the storm for the night;" and he offered a $5 bill.

"Well," said the woman, avariciously clutching the money, "if you think you can stay in the garret maybe you can stay; but hurry up, for I expect my husband home every minute, and it's as much as your life is worth if he should catch you here, for he's a perfect devil incarnate; would think no more of murdering you than he would of shooting a grizzly bear."

The woman produced a small ladder as she spoke, and bade the parson to get up in the garret.

There was a small "drop," or trap door in the ceiling which raised of its own accord on the parson's head pressing it upward, and not without some difficulty he managed to squeeze himself through the aperture. After he was up the woman told him to shut the trap and not to make any noise, for his life, and then, taking the ladder away, the parson was left to his own reflections.

Wet and uncomfortable as he was, his fatigue was such that he had almost fallen asleep when he was disturbed by some one knocking at the door.

Being somewhat curious to know what kind of a looking man his unknown host was he rose and peeped through a small crack in the floor in the room underneath. He saw the woman open the door cautiously, and after admitting a short thick set man in a heavy cloak, lock it again.

From the mysterious actions and whisperings that ensued, our parson rigatly concluded that the person who had just entered was not the woman's husband, but her paramour, who had taken advantage of her husband's absence to pay her a nocturnal visit. After whispering together for a while the woman went to the cupboard and produced a bottle of whisky and a plate of ham and bread which she set on the table, and the twain were soon engaged in a loving repast. While the parson was watching the guilty couple, there came a thundering knock at the door, which caused them both to jump to their feet with the greatest consternation. Without a moment's loss of time the woman ran to the box of flax and emptied it on the floor. Then she bade the man, who was almost scared to death to get into the box, which he was only too glad to do, and when he was in she rapidly covered him with the flax. The woman then ran to the door and unbolted it, all the while rubbing her eyes as if just awaking from sleep.

"I was asleep and did not hear you before," whimpered the woman. "And don't for God's sake curse so much, for there is a Methodist minister up in the garret!"

"Who cares for a Methodist minister, I'd like to know? But I'll soon have him out of his hole. Here, you old canting hypocrite, come out of this and show yourself, or I'll make you," he exclaimed with many imprecations, as he set the ladder before the trap door.

The poor parson almost dead with fright, slowly descended the ladder, looking as white as a ghost, for, from the ruffian's manner he expected he would be a ghost soon.

"Don't hurt the poor man. See how sickly he looks!" exclaimed the woman, pitying the poor creature's distress.

"You shut up and mind your own business, or it will be the worse for you," was the gracious reply of her lord; then turning to the trembling parson, he asked:

"Are you a Methodist minister, and do you believe in hell and the devil?"

The parson replied in the affirmative.

"Well, by the Eternal, I don't, and if you believe in the devil you'll either have to make him appear, or I'll cut your lying throat and make you appear before him!" and he drew his bowie knife in a threatening manner. The poor preacher was in anything but an enviable situation, and thoughts of another world began to fill his mind with anxious forebodings; for it is a remarkable fact that however much clergymen may preach and talk of the future world, they prefer to have others go on and enjoy it. This may be self-abnegation or pure selfishness; Heaven knows.

"Are you most ready?" asked the ruffian, raising his knife as he saw the other hesitate. "I'll give you just three minutes, and if the devil is not here, you will be with the devil."

"My friend," said the pastor, into whose head a brilliant idea had popped, "that there is a hell is a well established fact, as I can prove by hundreds of writers, and that the devil exists allows of no contradiction; and that I have the power to make him appear is also true; but dreadful to you will be the consequences if he does! Better for you had you never been born than see Satan face to face in the wicked state in which you are in!"

"D—n you, stop your preaching, and call the old boy! I'll stand the consequences, for the time is up."

The parson went to the fireplace and took a brand, which he applied to the box of flax. It blazed up almost like gun powder, and the unearthly yell that issued from the poor devil in the box was truly appalling.

With an acrobatic power, of the possession of which he was himself unaware, he leaped out of the box, covered from head to foot with burning flax. With roars and howls of agony he made straight for the door, but he was not so quick as the owner of the premises, for with one look of terror at the burning figure, he fled out of the house, closely pursued by "his Satanic Majesty."

When they were both gone the parson gave his hostess a short but effective lecture on connubial duties, after which he seated himself comfortably before the fire.

When the husband returned he treated the parson with the greatest respect, fully convinced that he had the power to raise the devil at will.

The Yield of Wheat.

From the Farmer (Salem) we have this intelligence:

The farmers who are hauling their wheat to market report that the yield for the present harvest runs from 25 to 37 bushels per acre for fall wheat, and averages better than in 1871. The spring-sown grain yields less, but is still better than last year. The last rain came in time to perfect the berry and greatly increase the aggregate yield.

Advices from Linn county are not so favorable. The Albany Register says:

From a gentleman living near Brownsville we learn that the oat and wheat crop will not yield as largely as at first thought. His opinion is that in the immediate vicinity of Brownsville the average yield of wheat will not much overrun 19 bushels per acre.

The St. Louis Democrat of July 30th, in an article on wheat, says:

Many of our dealers in grain are disposed to believe that prices are now ruling at their minimum for the crop year which will end in June, 1873, and from now forward choice samples of winter wheat will steadily advance. It is asserted that the situation of affairs this season is nearly precisely the same as prevailed from July, 1865, to June 30, 1866; that, added to a partial failure of the crop of winter wheat during that year, the same condition of wet weather was experienced during the summer of 1865, and that, therefore, the prices of choice winter wheat which prevailed then must be expected as likely to rule from now forward.

The Democrat, however, reviews the situation, and thinks the expectation of high prices without foundation.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED AT THE [illegible] CONVENTION, [illegible] PHILADELPHIA, [illegible] 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country:

1. During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time. It has suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offenses, and has warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily [illegible] a new policy toward the Indians. The Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion, the public lands have been freely given to actual settlers, immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers. In the form of National currency, it has provided for the National credit, and sustained it under the most extraordinary burdens, it has negotiated new bonds at lower rates of interest. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reductions from the rate of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during U. S. Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100,000,000 per year. A great financial crisis has been avoided, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the Nation kept in a high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in the beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured those amendments.

4. The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all people who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a lifetenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement by the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt; and except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to laborers, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for the country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, once a subject always a subject, having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Governments, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection of voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way proposed for reductions in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction; and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments. It disapproves of resorting constitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by the interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

MARSHAL'S CITATION.—UNITED STATES OF America, District of Oregon—ss. Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the District Court of United States of America, for the District of Oregon, on the 3d day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and seventy-two, by Messrs. Woodward & Goodsell, Proctors, in behalf of D. Therefore in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of the said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public general notice to all persons claiming the same, or who have any right, title or interest therein, to appear before the aforesaid Court at the city of Portland, Oregon, on the 2d day of September, 1872, if it be a day of jurisdiction on the next such day thereafter, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to interpose their claims, and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said District, the 9th day of August, A. D. 1872.

United States Marshal.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs, successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering under a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrible situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary one of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trade. Some are ticket-writers, shoe-makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, cor. Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. ly6d4pt

And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.

KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A FORTUNE.

IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.

IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and that official does the advertising. jy10d3m
